Casillero di Diablo
Because the wine was so good, the scary name (House of the Devil) was designed to deter cellar workers from drinking it! For years, the winemakers thought they had planted Merlot, but it turned out to be this ancient Bordeaux varietal, which is now unique to Chile. Somewhat like Merlot in structure, it has a signature dry herb spice that adds complexity. 750 ml. Bottle

From our Specialty Cheese department...

COASTAL MATURE CHEDDAR

With its own special cultures, this cheese has a unique taste somewhere between the creamy sweetness of a Gouda and the rich pungency of a Cheddar, with the classic bite of a Parmesan. It slices easily, grates well and melts beautifully.
